In this issue we celebrate how far we've come with the Activewear category and just how versatile it can be.

Lorna Jane Clarkson

y vision has always been to create Activewear that empowers women, not just in the gym but in every moment of their busy lives. For me it's about designing pieces that women can wear Anywhere, Anytime so we can move through every part of our lives with the perfect combination of comfort, confidence, and style.

Whether we're heading to a workout, meeting a friend for coffee, running errands, or attending a meeting – wearing Activewear is part of our lifestyle, it's who we are - and in this issue we celebrate how far we've come with the Activewear category and just how versatile it can be.

We also show you how to master the art of layering as the weather starts to get cooler and our resident style icon @siennaespie wows us with offduty perfection in her City Getaway edit.

We're also launching our first official sleepwear collection this month – and what I love about these pieces are that they're designed to be just as versatile as our Activewear. So, you'll be wearing them not only in the bedroom but styled back with your weekend wear as well.

If you follow me on Instagram (@ljclarkson) you'll know that I just launched my Never Give Up Podcast (Yay!) and on page 16 and 17 I talk about what 'Never Give Up' means to me, why I decided to do a podcast and what you can look forward to as a listener.

I can't go without reminding you that wearing Activewear really does have the power to change how we live – so why not start wearing it Anywhere, Anytime and experience the ease and confidence it brings to everything that you do.

Stay strong, stay inspired, and as always #NeverGiveUp.

Never give up

W / LORNA JANE CLARKSON

We sat down with our Founder Lorna Jane Clarkson to talk about her new podcast 'Never Give Up'

Q: 'Never Give Up' is such a powerful message—what inspired you to start this podcast, and what do you hope listeners learn?

I wanted to create a platform where women could share their stories and learn from each other. A space where we could talk about the good, the bad and everything in between, in an effort to inspire and empower other women on their journeys as well.

Q: You've built an incredible brand at Lorna Jane by staying true to your vision. Can you share a time when you faced a major challenge and thought about Giving Up?

There have been so many challenges building Lorna Jane and that's a huge part of why I wanted to create the podcast – to show that there will always be challenges when you're trying to build something. But it's the overcoming of these challenges that pushes you forward and takes you to the next level. The biggest Never Give Up moment for me was when I was first starting Lorna Jane. I wasn't just building a brand. but the Activewear category as well. No one believed that women would be wearing Activewear everywhere. Landlords wouldn't give me quality retail space and because I was a fitness instructor, they didn't take me seriously as a businesswoman! But I proved them wrong, I kept turning up every day, and built the category until they couldn't ignore it anymore!

Q: Your new podcast features conversations with six incredibly inspiring women, how did you select these women and what do you discuss?

For me it was about selecting women that had achieved a level of success in their life but were also open and honest enough to share both the highs and lows of their journey. Interesting, relatable, generous women that had faced challenges and gained knowledge and experience that we all could learn from.

Q: Tell us about your vision for your podcast and what listeners can expect?

My vision for the podcast is for the listener to feel like they're in the room with us, chatting about life's experiences and all the lessons we've learnt along the way. By sharing our most vulnerable moments and how we have overcome them I'm hoping to show her that with the right mindset and motivation she can get through her toughest moments too.

Q: If you could give one piece of advice to someone feeling stuck or on the verge of giving up, what would it be?

My first pieces of advice would be to say that it's ok to feel like giving up, as long as you don't!

My second piece of advice would be to ask yourself in that moment "Why am I doing this?" and the answer will remind you why you started ... and trust me ... reminding yourself of your vision/purpose or passion will remove any chance of you giving up and give you the motivation to keep going.

URBAN moments

A city getaway calls for athleisure that does it all. From airport travel looks to café hopping, @siennaespie proves that easy, effortless athleisure dressing is key to staying stylish and comfortable wherever your weekend escape takes you.
